The residence of Mr. and Mrs. G. Amory Maddox in Wyoming avenue was the scene of a beautiful wedding last evening at 8 o'clock, when the latter's sister, Miss Irene McNamara, daughter of Mrs. Henry McNamara, became the bride of Mr. Philip Deane Elkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Morgan Elkins.

The Rev. J. J. Muir officiated, the ceremony taking place in the drawing room before the mirror, which was framed with smilax and backed to the ceiling with palms and Australian ferns, studded with white peonies, while standards of lilies of the valley were placed either side of the prie-dieu. Wall pockets, filled with peonies, pink roses and sweet peas, adorned the drawing room and reception hall, and southern smilax, interspersed with pink rambler roses, entwined the stairway. A string orchestra played the wedding music and throughout the reception.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Stuart McNamara of New York, wore a handsome gown of white satin brocaded in silver in a big design draped over a silver lace petticoat and a long square train lined with silver cloth. Her long tulle veil, which completely enveloped her gown, was arranged in cap effect and held to the cofure by a cluster of orange blossoms. Her flowers were a shower of lilies of the valley and gardenias.

Mrs. Philip Henry Ward, Jr., of Germantown, Pa., who was her sister's only attendant, wore a charming gown of pink chiffon draped over silver tulle and carried an arm bouquet of pink peonies. Mr. Charles F. Walters of Pittsburgh was best man. Following the ceremony there was a small reception.

Mrs. McNamara, the bride's mother, wore a handsome gown of black satin trimmed with mottos lace; Mrs. Maddox a lovely gown of black sequins and Mrs. Stuart McNamara an effective creation of pink tulle combined with chiffon the same shade embroidered in gold.

Mr. and Mrs. Elkins left later for their wedding trip, the bride wearing a smart tailored gown of dark blue tulle and a small hat to match trimmed with gaura. They will make their home at York, Pa. Mr. and Mrs. Philip Henry Ward, Jr., of Germantown, Pa. and Mr. and Mrs. Stuart McNamara of New York were among the out-of-town guests.

The Secretary of the Interior, Mr. Lane, entertained at luncheon at the Shoreham yesterday.

Mrs. Charles Bunker, wife of Surgeon Bunker, U. S. N., is the guest of Mrs. Arthur T. Hacker at her home in Lamont street. Mrs. Bunker, before returning to New York, will chaperon her cousin, Miss Bernadette Hacker, to Annapolis for the week end.

Miss Sarah Bruce Frazier of Chattanooga, Tenn., who is here attending the reunion, being a member of the staff of Gen. Harrison, was complimented by the Marine Band Tuesday, when at their concert at the pension, she played her new song, "Sunshine and Love."

A color scheme of green and white, with touches of pale pink, white peonies and roses, intermingled with delicate pink roses together with palms and ferns, made a beautiful setting for the marriage of Miss Mildred Bright Welch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Welch, and Mr. Charles William Hartford, which took place last evening at 8 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, 2517 14th street northwest. There was an appropriate musical program by Mr. and Mrs. Earl Wagner from piano and violin preceding the ceremony and after they played the wedding march from "Lohengrin."

An improvised altar with white satin prie-dieu was arranged before the spacious window in the drawing room, where the bridegroom with his best man, his brother, Mr. John G. Hanford, awaited the bride's coming.

The bride, who was unattended, was escorted and later given in marriage by her father, Mr. John Welch. She was lovely in a gown of white embroidered tulle, arranged in cap effect and caught with a bandeau of orange blossoms, and her bouquet was a shower of valley lilies and bride roses.

Your Oriental Rugs, Madam!

NUMEROUS fine, valuable rugs have been ruined by letting them go year after year just having the dust beaten out of them—nothing done about having the dirt in the fine wool shampooed out. The varnish, wax or oil used on the floor sipped by the rug in course of time naturally rots it unless thoroughly removed.

The Washington Elite Laundry SHAMPOO PROCESS is a distinctly new way—the consequence of intelligent study and experimenting.

—It is the proper way that in addition to thoroughly cleaning restores the Rug Colors and Details of Design to virtually their original beauty and distinctiveness.
